Column One BY David Courtney

COMMUNIST are meant to say as little as possible, either because there is nothing worth saying, or much that the authors do not dare to tell. The Bermuda conference as published could hardly say less, and we may have to wait some time before knowing whether it conceals anything better. The decision to set up the four-Power Foreign Ministers' conference could have been taken without the week-end meeting at the Mid-Ocean Club; and the platitude about Western strength as the main guarantee of peace would have been no more or less platitudinous if put together after consultations over the transatlantic telephone.

WESTERN strength, however, whether or not as a guarantee of peace, seems to have been one of the main subjects discussed at Bermuda. Next Monday the Foreign, Finance and Defence Ministers of the 14 NATO nations will assemble at the Palais de Chaillot to receive the third annual review of the Organization and to decide what should be done in 1954. The lead, no doubt, will be given by the three heads of Government and their advisers at Bermuda; off of expenditure, some lightening of loads, judging from the relieved speculation in France, nothing was decided upon at the Bermuda conference, but further help, probably conditional on ratification of E.D.C., was proposed.

BUT these, again, are matters which hardly warranted the meeting at Bermuda. Even the question of a common atomic energy policy, which the presence of Lord Cherwell and Sir Straus at the Mid-Ocean Club indicates was a main item for discussion, could not have been decided there. Behind the meeting of the American President and the British and French Prime Ministers, Mr. Eisenhower's speech, dubbed "Operation Candour" and dealing with the "perils confronting the world in this atomic age," although somewhat provoked by Sir Winston Churchill and M. Laniel, was prepared before Bermuda, not afterwards; and in spite of the fact that content cannot be taken as having replaced the singular purpose of Bermuda.

DISARMAMENT proposals, if fair and workable, of course, help to reduce the tension that those who make the proposals want peace if they can get it, not war. But it is clear that neither side in the great conflict is ready to take the step of good intentions of the other as a basis for a policy devoted to the "extension of its system of strategic bases right up to the borders of Russia, and to the disarmament of Germany, however, apparently justified by suspicions of what Russia may be doing or preparing for, may fly from the disarmament plans some, at least, of the impact they should have.

It was expected, therefore, that Sir Winston Churchill would sound out President Eisenhower on the possibility of some conditional gesture in Europe, with which to ally any force in Russia may genuinely have that German rearmament and the development of NATO bases — base facilities, on which modern army must depend, had increased remarkably during the past year — will press beyond defensive reason against the frontiers of the Soviet Union. This Russian argument will be brought up at the January conference on Germany; and, just as obviously, the Jews unable to reply except in the terms which have become familiar, precious little good will come out of the talks.

It has been indicated that the Western Powers want to take early in January; that is to say, before the French have been able to decide whether to join E.D.C. or not. If the conference were held later in the month, it might coincide with the E.D.C. debate and influence the Assembly against ratification. If, as apparently the Western Powers now suspect, the Berlin conference should fall to pieces in its early stages, or drag on abortively in vindication of Washington's belief that the Russians want only to waste time, prospect of the E.D.C. treaty, ratified by France should improve. The flaw in this argument is that if Russia's intentions are as cynical as they have been, she will make a point of either delaying the Berlin conference until nearer the time of the debate in the French Assembly, or of spinning out the Foreign Ministers' meeting with a show of apparent goodwill until the fate of the E.D.C. debate becomes known.

BERMUDA may have something particularly good up its sleeve. But it is hard to guess what and easy to fear that the situation, fundamentally, is pretty much the same as it was before the meeting took place.

POWER FAILURE
Because of a fault in an underground cable, electricity to half of Jerusalem was interrupted for 35 minutes last night.

Parties Name Terms For Joining Gov't

The President is to receive Acting Prime Minister Moshe Sharett at 9 o'clock this morning to discuss the formation of a new Government. Mr. Ben-Zvi yesterday received representatives of every Knesset Party in turn to hear their terms for entering a broad coalition which was urged on the President and political leader by Mr. Ben-Gurion in his farewell speech to the nation broadcast on Monday night.

Marauders Active On Many Fronts

A policeman on guard in the Mt. Scopus demilitarized zone was wounded on Sunday night when the army spokesman announced yesterday.

While on his watch, the policeman became aware of a movement near the fence which surrounds the demilitarized zone. He approached to investigate and was fired on from the other side of the fence.

The Israel delegation to the Jordan Mixed Armistice Commission has submitted a complaint and has demanded an on-the-spot investigation.

On Monday at 7 p.m. in the Tulkarm area a group of armed Jordanians came under fire and was put to flight while attempting to penetrate into an area where an Israel guard position was located. The Army spokesman said the Jordanians were killed.

An infiltrator was caught by an Israel patrol in the Negev on Monday night. He said he was on route to Hebron from Gaza and had no criminal intentions.

Another infiltrator, captured in the same area on the previous night, claimed he was making the same journey.

The Jerusalem Post correspondent in Beersheba reports that down from the Old City on Monday night, a group of four men led to the Gaza Strip.

Active at Rehovot
Marauders were active in the Rehovot area on Monday night. A mule was stolen from Moshav Ben Zaka, and 11 sheep were taken from Moshav Hatzav. In Moshav Galia, two goats were stolen, and a mule was taken from Moshav Azrikan. In the Rehovot area, a calf was stolen by marauders from a kibbutz in the Western Negev, and tracks of three men were seen in the area. "A-Diffa," the Old City daily, claims that the Mt. Scopus policeman accidentally shot himself in the leg and was brought down from the demilitarized zone through a special arrangement with the Arab Legion and the Truce Supervision Organization.

The paper alleged that policemen on Mt. Scopus again kept up sporadic firing into the Arab camp in the Old City on Sunday night until dawn. Jordan submitted a complaint to the M.A.C. on Monday morning, it was said.

The paper further charged that Israel authorities on Monday night sent Israeli Arab forces to the demilitarized zone, to the Tulkarm area, to the Tulkarm area, to plough 1,500 dunams. They were challenged by an Arab Legion patrol and forced to retreat into Israel, and to return to the M.A.C. "A-Diffa" reports.

Arabs Claim Poverty Led to Infiltration
The Jerusalem Magistrate's Court yesterday issued detention orders against two Arabs who were captured on Monday night in the vicinity of Beit Govrin while infiltrating. One of the men pleaded that he had escaped from Jordan because a dinner invitation had been made to him by the authorities in a school building programme. "I didn't have the money to go to Israel," the man said.

The other said that he had lost his way while going out to collect cartridges which he had planned to sell to support his family.

Histadrut Opposes New Civil Service Union
TEL AVIV, Tuesday. — The Central Committee of the Histadrut's Clerks Association yesterday issued a statement opposing the formation of a separate union proposed by junior civil servants while the latter are due to hold a one-day strike today.

The recently proposed separate union was called by the Association as "discriminatory" and similar to the Mandatory First Division Civil Service body.

The senior civil servants decided last week to form a union of their own since they claimed their demands for higher salaries had been rejected by the Clerks Association and the Civil Servants Association.

'Telegraph' Tribute
LONDON, Tuesday (Reuter). — The "Daily Telegraph" today described Mr. David Ben-Gurion as a man who united the fervor of a patriot with the vision of a statesman, and said his counsel would be missed far beyond his own country.

After Dr. Weizmann, no individual has had a greater share in creating the State of Israel than Mr. Ben-Gurion, who laid down his Premiership yesterday, this Conservative newspaper declared.

The wisdom with which he has guided the State during five years of its existence is reflected in the manner of his withdrawal.

"We who united the far-flung Jewish community in one dominant personality is liable to prove a source of weakness."

Troops Guard British Embassy As Teheran Students Strike
TEHRAN, Tuesday (UP). — Troops took up stations near the British Embassy building today as Teheran University practically closed in a students' strike.

Student supporters of the outlawed pro-Communist Tudeh Party walked out in protest against yesterday's shooting by soldiers of two students among demonstrators chanting "Down with Britain." Other students stayed home, fearing violence.

Report Fresh Protest
Troops moved into the embassy area after Military Government officials received reports that anti-British demonstrations were planned by students and supporters of the powerful religious leader, Ayatollah Khomeini, who strongly opposes resumption of relations with Britain.

New York Papers Reappear Today

NEW YORK, Tuesday (Reuter). — New York's 11-day newspaper strike ended today.

The striking photo-engravers voted to accept a Federal Mediator's formula providing a $3.75 a week package pay increase with the understanding that a fact-finding panel would decide whether the increase should be greater.

Picket lines were ordered removed, and newspapers were to reappear tomorrow morning.

UN Continues Racial Probe in S. Africa

UNITED NATIONS, Tuesday (UP). — The General Assembly today continued its inquiry into racial conflict in South Africa and to appeal to the South African Government to cooperate in a 17-power resolution to end apartheid.

The vote was 11 in favour, 42 against, with 10 abstentions.

The Assembly, in plenary session, had first rejected a motion of the South African delegation declaring the U.N. incompetent to look into the racial question of the Union Government's policy of apartheid.

The vote on a 17-power resolution was 11 in favour, 42 against, with 10 abstentions.

Mapal Starts Procession
At 9:30 a.m. yesterday a Mapal delegation conferred with President Ben-Gurion, starting a day-long procession of representatives of all the Knesset parties who had been invited in succession by the President to discuss with him the formation of a new Government.

The three Mapal representatives, Messrs. Meir Argov, Mordechai Namir and Ami Asaf, had expressed to the President their desire that the task of forming the new Government be given to Acting Prime Minister Moshe Sharett, they said afterwards. They also expressed to the President their desire to expand the present coalition by including Mapal.

The next group to go in was the General Zionists, consisting of Dr. Elimelech Rimalt, Mr. Haim Arlos and Mr. Simcha Babi. During their 37-minute visit, the President stressed to them the importance of forming the new Government as soon as possible. They wanted the new Government to be set up on the same basic lines as the present coalition. Many of the political and economic questions under consideration were raised before Mr. Ben-Gurion proffered his resignation, they said, and they felt that it was better to stick to the present coalition than to set up an unstable Government. Asked when they planned to meet with Mapal, the members said they had not yet been fixed as they had received no formal notification from them.

2-Man Mapal Team
The two-man Mapal team, Mr. Haim Ben-Aharon and Mr. Jacob Shalom, 11, and like the General Zionists, conferred with the President for 37 minutes. They told the President they said afterwards, the only way of improving the difficult internal and international situation of the country was to form a Government based on the cooperation of the two workers' parties and to build an economy whose stability did not depend on foreign grants. Mapal would not consider entering a Government along present lines, they said. At present most of the burden was being shouldered by the workers. The only way the Government could succeed was for all citizens to take a greater share of this burden.

Unemployment, they believed, was the greatest deterrent to economic development. As long as this problem existed, there would be no mass voluntary immigration from overseas. Any government that Mapal would enter would have to guarantee full rights for the Arab minority, they said.

Meeting Today
They met Mapal representatives at 3 p.m. for a 30-minute session on procedure. Another meeting might be held today.

The Rapal-Histadrut delegation, consisting of Messrs. Itzhak Rappaport, Michael Chazany and Zorah Warhaftig, entered the President's office at 12:30 for a 20-minute meeting. They expressed the hope that the Coalition would be widened so as to include the other religious parties. One of the questions they discussed with the President was the passing of a law to restrict pig-raising.

The Mirshel delegation, the last to see the President during the morning, expressed the hope that the new coalition would include the religious parties, both of the left and the right. They explained (Continued on Page 3, Col. 2)

Int'l Court to Rule on Pay For Dismissed UN Staff

NEW YORK, Tuesday (Reuter). — The Administrative Tribunal of the U.N. General Assembly today voted by 35 to 7, with 12 abstentions, to seek an advisory opinion from the International Court of Justice on the payment of compensation to dismissed staff members.

The resolution would ask the Court whether the U.N. Charter gave the Administrative Tribunal the right to pay compensation awarded by the administrative tribunal to a dismissed staff member.

Mexico and Yugoslavia joined in opposing the resolution. Australia, New Zealand, the U.S., France, Belgium, India, the Netherlands, and the Philippines abstained.

Kubelick Collapses During Concert

TEL AVIV, Tuesday. — At the conclusion of the first part of the Israel Philharmonic Orchestra's concert in the Holon hall this evening, the conductor, Mr. Raphael Kubelick, collapsed on the podium.

Mr. Isaac Stern, the evening's soloist, played the program by himself. Bach's Chaconne for Unaccompanied Violin when Mr. Kubelick was unable to return after the intermission.

It is expected that Mr. Kubelick will be able to conduct this Thursday's concert.

NEW ZEALAND PRICES RISE

WELLINGTON, Tuesday (Reuter). — Prime Minister Sidney Holland today announced higher prices for bread, butter, and milk and increases in railway and post office charges.

West Asks for Big 4 Talks Jan. 4

LONDON, Tuesday (Reuter). — The three Western Powers in parallel notes delivered in Moscow today proposed January 4 for a Foreign Ministers' meeting in London and to the conclusion of a meeting of the Four Big Powers.

Allied Unity Stressed At Bermuda Meeting

HAMILTON, Tuesday (UP). — The U.S., Britain and France reaffirmed today that they are "resolved to maintain our joint efforts to perfect" world peace and security.

The communiqué issued this morning after a final meeting of the heads of the three Western nations, which lasted more than three hours, declared that "the danger of aggression now appears less imminent because of the 'mounting strength of the free world.'"

It said there is "no cause to fear that the strength of the West will be invoked in any cause of wrongful violence." On the contrary, the fundamental principle of the United Nations, which we serve, that the guarantee against aggression shall be universal.

The communiqué again stressed that the West believed in the European Army as the best solution for the strengthening of European defenses through German rearmament.

The communiqué, issued by President Eisenhower, Sir Winston Churchill, and French Premier Joseph Laniel, stated that they had agreed to a "big four" meeting in London on January 4 to discuss German unification, an Austrian peace treaty and other major international problems.

M. Laniel missed some of the sessions because of illness, but was represented by his Foreign Minister, Georges Bidault.

Much of the last day was devoted to a study of Far Eastern problems. On this the communiqué said that the immediate aim of Allied policy continues to be the convening of the political conference provided for in the Korean Armistice Agreement. "This would provide the means for reaching a peaceful settlement of the Korean question and for making progress in restoring normal conditions to the Far East and South-East Asia."

It paid tribute to the efforts of France and the Associated States of Indo-China, whose armies were fighting for the independence of Cambodia, Laos and Vietnam, and said: "We will continue to work together to restore peace and stability in this area."

Communists Reject Allied 'Final Offer'

PANMUNJOM, Tuesday. — Both South Korea and the Communists rejected the U.N.'s "final offer" on convening a Korean peace conference today, and Allied envoy Arthur Dean threatened to break off negotiations unless they accepted it.

South Korea's Foreign Minister Pyun Yung Tai refused to approve Mr. Dean's proposal because it would set India, which his Government considers "pro-Communist," and other neutrals at the conference.

The Communists spurned the offer because it compels the Soviet Union, as Mr. Dean proposed, "to vote on your side," and because the draft forbids neutrals to introduce motions or proposals at the conference.

The South Korean representative to the preliminary talks boycotted today's meeting because the plan was not held back for 24 hours as his side requested.

Northern Korean delegate Ki Suk Bok said that under "no circumstances" would his side agree to invite the Soviet Union to the conference in any role other than as a neutral nation.

In stating that this was his "final offer," Mr. Dean said, "it simply means we are not going to make any concessions. The negotiators are to meet again tomorrow." (UP, Reuter)

4 European Conventions To Be Signed Friday

PARIS, Tuesday (Reuter). — The Ministers of the Council of Europe will sign the four European conventions when they meet here next Friday for the 13th session of the Ministerial Committee, it was announced here today.

The conventions — on social security, medical assistance, civil rights and technical diplomas — are designed to grant in each member state to the citizens of other nations the same status as is granted to its own citizens.

Highly Secret Allied Conference On Air Defence Opens in Cyprus

NICOSIA, Tuesday. — Following the pattern of last week's secret talks here "on joint use of Mediterranean facilities," a five-nation NATO conference on Middle East defence, presumably against the Soviet bloc, began this morning behind an iron curtain of secrecy.

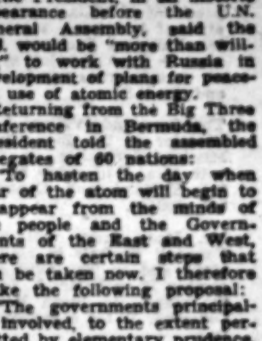

Although over 30 British, American, Turkish, Greek, and Italian senior staff officers kept on arriving all day yesterday from Naples, Limir, and the Canal Zone, a news blackout was maintained until two hours after the start of the conference this morning, when a 26-word communiqué announced the conference would discuss mutual problems of Middle East defence.

Silence Maintained
The number of officers attending, their names, and the duration of the conference were stated as being top secret.

Heading the British team of Air Staff officers was Air Vice-Marshal Spencer, senior Air Staff officer of the Middle East Air Force. The Americans were led by Major General Eaton, and the Turkish group was headed by Major General Turanoglu. One observer came from the Greek and Italian air forces.

The conference, which is the first of its kind to be held here, is essentially on air matters, and the R.A.F. here is acting as host.

The talks are being held at Nicosia airport, four miles outside of Nicosia, where there can be no unwelcome eavesdropping. The latter is hardly practicable.

Press Review

The Premier Retires

In countries where governments change frequently the resignation of a Prime Minister is not a very important event, but Mr. Ben Gurion's position in this country is quite different. "Zmanim" Progressive asserts in commenting on the ex-Prime Minister's broadcast. The paper draws attention to Mr. Ben Gurion's resignation to restore the Government Coalition on the 1948 basis to include Mapai, and feels that this is no mere conventional move.

"Haaretz" (Independent) on the other hand holds that "many people believe" that Mr. Ben Gurion's political balance sheet for the last few years has not been good, especially as he has been unwilling to take into account some basic fact of Israel's foreign policy. The paper also charges that Mr. Ben Gurion's resignation is a purely political move, with a similar attempt to escape the realities of foreign policy. No information campaign will change basic political facts in foreign policy.

People's Destiny

"Haaretz" (World) Mirabli Union says that at the root of Mr. Ben Gurion's resignation is the belief in the destiny of the Jewish people and Israel is an historic inspiration, which will be a purely political move. The paper also agrees with Mr. Ben Gurion in stressing pioneering at the head of the country. "Haaretz" (General) Zionist affirms that Mr. Ben Gurion is a national figure inasmuch as he attempted to rise above party politics; frequently he did not succeed in his efforts because many of his political friends felt that "the Histadrut should be at the head of the country." "Haaretz" (General) Zionist affirms that Mr. Ben Gurion is a national figure inasmuch as he attempted to rise above party politics; frequently he did not succeed in his efforts because many of his political friends felt that "the Histadrut should be at the head of the country."

33% Health Imports For Kupat Holim

Of the $600,000 allocated for imports by the Ministry of Health during the period April to October last, 33% went to the Kupat Holim of the Histadrut, figures released by the Ministry. The pharmaceutical industry received 28%, mainly for the purchase of chemicals, including antibiotics, and 27% was used in private hospitals and hospitals.

understanding and goodwill which, among other things, caused the Aguda to leave the Coalition some time ago. The paper says that if the Coalition partners had revealed a minimum of goodwill, the Aguda would not have resigned.

"Davar" (Histadrut) comments on recent attacks by infiltrators and asks whether this is the Arab reply to Israel's peace proposals. The paper doubts whether these attacks are spontaneous, suggesting that the Arabs have been encouraged to further aggression by the Security Council's decision. The paper stresses the necessity to draw attention to these attacks abroad.

In a second leader the paper extends greetings to the Israeli Writers' Conference which opened yesterday.

"Al Hamishmar" (Mapai) welcomes the clarification brought about by the American Zionist Council's action; the delegates have realized the full implications of the State Department's anti-Israel policy and have also understood that a strong Zionist movement is needed; former "orientation to Jewish youth."

Centenary of Dogma Marked

A Pontifical Mass was celebrated in the Church of the Dormition on Mt. Zion, today, the Feast of the Immaculate Conception, to mark the Centenary of the proclamation of the Dogma of the Immaculate Conception of Mary, by Pope Pius IX.

Father Abbot Leo Rudolph, O.S.B., in the presence of the Latin Vicar of Southern Israel, members of the diplomatic corps, as well as representatives of the State of Israel, inaugurated Anne Mariano, the year of Mary, saying in his message to the congregation: "We who live here are specially privileged to walk on the ground where her steps have been. We who live here are specially privileged to walk on the ground where her steps have been."

It is expected that the designation of 1964 as Anno Mariano by Pope Pius XII will encourage many pilgrims to come to Israel, where they will visit the three sanctuaries commemorating the most important events in the life of the Mother of Jesus: Nazareth; the Church of the Dormition, the site on which Mary is said to have fallen asleep before ascending into Heaven; the Church of the Annunciation, in Nazareth; and the Church of the Visitation in Ein Karem.

Rome took on the air of Christmas yesterday. The bells of the city's 47 churches, from the St. Peter's to the smallest parish church in the Trastevere workingmen's district on the banks of the Tiber, pealed a melody of joy on this Feast Day of the Immaculate Conception.

Wolves Take Over First Division Lead

By AKIVA KALMAN

Wolverhampton Wanderers took over the lead of the first Division of the English Football League on Saturday from West Bromwich Albion—the first change of lead for some time—by a 3-2 win over Tottenham Hotspur at White Hart Lane, as the Albion were surprisingly beaten at home by an until-then unconvincing Portsmouth set-up, 3-2, through a last minute goal by Gordon.

Conner's Third Hat-Trick
The Wolves, unbeaten in their last 15 games, thus added the "Spurs" to their bag of wins over London sides, as they have previously downed Arsenal, Charlton Athletic and Chelsea this season. Hancock scored the fifth and all-important goal.

West Bromwich Albion were shocked by "Tommy," who, for no apparent reason, was late to the game, and scored a 3-0 lead in the first half. The Albion fought back and drew level at 2-2 and seemed to have the game in hand until Gordon put in the winning shot.

The Wolves now have 33 points, and West Brom, 32. Behind them are Huddersfield Town, with 24, following a goalless draw in an away fixture against Bolton Wanderers, Burnley, fourth with 20 points, slumped home a convincing 3-1 win over bottom-placed Sunderland (13 points) to give the Durham lads the worst goal-against record in the League. They have had at least one goal scored against them in every match with a total of 55 in all.

Arsenal's Loss
Manchester City lost 3-1 to Charlton and are second from bottom with 15 points, the same as Liverpool, who came back with a smashing 5-2 home win over Blackpool. Liverpool defeated two amateurs, including 20-year-old centre-forward Allan Arnold, who netted a goal in his debut game. Middlebrough, lying next up, with 16 points, inflicted the first defeat, in 13 games, 2-0, on Arsenal.

Trevor Ford, Welsh international centre-forward, transferred "back home" to Cardiff City from Sunderland last week at a reported fee of £20,000, making a grand total of nearly £70,000 paid for him in transfer fees since he left Swansea Town (Villal, Yenda, and a good game for his new club but Cardiff went down to a 2-1 loss to the Wednesday at Sheffield.

Leicester City, of the Second Division, were the only London over the weekend. This effort added seven miles 13 yards to the previous best.

Five other runners took part. Hawood lost 7 lbs. weight during the run. His comment at the end was "Never again."

AT THE CINEMA

JANE Clair's "Les Belles de la Nuit" (Mograbli, Tel Aviv) ridicules the operatic pathos of "Melba" (at the Mograbli, Tel Aviv) in a quite a remarkable manner. The rest of the week's films comprise a set of all-too-suggestive experiments in the realm of silence. "The Thief" (Armon, David) and a pirate opera (without music) called "The Crimson Pirate" (Chen).

The producers of "Melba" seemed unperturbed by the fact that the biography of the famous Australian soprano Jenny Melba, who rose to fame at the end of the last century, does not lend itself to dramatic elaboration; as a consequence the film deals with her stage appearances and although we hear more operatic arias in this film than in any other, the method becomes rather tedious.

Patricia Munsel (of Metropolitan Opera fame), although a debutante in front of the camera, is rather a piquant actress. Her voice is strong and clear if not of very definite timbre. With the help of the sound engineers, her range stretches from the coloratura of Rossini and Gluck to the dramatic impact of Tosca.

Good-Hearted Irony
THE Rene Clair film has most of the good-hearted irony and fancy that we are accustomed to expect from this youthful veteran of French film wit. The work is focused on two themes—the enmity between the adherents of the noise emanating from a garage and the followers of a young composer's piano playing; and Rene Clair's explanation that the conception of the "good old days" is nonsense since the present is just as wonderful, or as bad, as was the turn of the century, the era of Louis Philippe or of Napoleon or of the Revolution, or of the eve man. To prove his point he sends the composer, enchanting day-dreamer Gerard Philippe, into the past where he not only meets the daughter of the garage owner (Martine Carol) in various disguises (with the "Crimson Pirate," finally, shouldn't be taken seriously, either as a straightforward piece of piracy or as a parody. But Lancaster at all events does his job well.
